The South African Journal of Environmental Law and Policy (SAJELP) is an independent publication which focuses on the field of environmental law and policy. The journal is a vital tool to both legal practitioners and academics in all areas of specialisation in this field.

SAJELP provides a unique opportunity to disseminate high quality, peer reviewed research on environmental law and policy within a local, regional and international context.

Contributions are welcome on all aspects of environmental law and policy, including:

- Environmental governance;
- The regulation of environmental decision-making;
- Compliance monitoring and enforcement measures;
- Liability for environmental pollution and degradation;
- Cultural heritage, biodiversity and protected areas;
- Recent case law.

Papers should not exceed 10 000 words and will be evaluated by the Editors, as well as being subjected to a double-blind peer review. When submitting a manuscript, please ensure that the journal's formatting requirements are adhered to. In particular, the general style of citation of publications and cases and references to authorities followed by the South African Law Journal shall be adopted.

A contributor is requested to supply his/her name, university degrees, professional qualifications and professional or academic status for publication in the journal.
