

ENVIRONMENTAL LAW ASSOCIATION OF SOUTH AFRICA

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

ANNUAL NATIONAL CONFERENCE & AGM

10-11 NOVEMBER 2017 | UNIVERSITY OF CAPE TOWN

SA'S ENVIRONMENTAL LAW SCORECARD:
20 years since the White Paper on Environmental
Management Policy for South Africa, 1997

The White Paper on Environmental Management was published in July 1997 setting out the dream for environmental management for South Africa.

The White Paper followed the Consultative National Environmental Policy Process (CONNAPP). People from all walks of life contributed to the formulation of the eventual 1997 White Paper.

The White Paper is available at https://www.environment.gov.za/sites/default/files/legislations/environmental_management.pdf and its final 1998 version at https://www.gov.za/sites/default/files/environwp_0.pdf

The White Paper amongst other things set the “the policy principles that [had to] be applied in developing and testing policy and subsequent actions including decision making, legislation and regulation government’s strategic goals and supporting objectives to begin addressing major issues facing environmental management and the sustainable use of resources and for measuring the success of policy implementation government’s approach to governance, setting out the powers and responsibilities of the different spheres and agencies of government and the regulatory approach to environmental management.”

Twenty years later it merits to question if South Africa has achieved its vision of 1997. What did the legal fraternity and government achieve and what are the challenges that remain?

This is a Call for Abstracts for conference papers / presentations addressing any of the following:

- Section 24 of the Constitution and its realisation
- Existing and emerging sustainability principles and goals
- Integrated environmental management
- EIA regulations [20 years since the first EIA regs under the ECA]
- The one environmental system
- The specific environmental management acts
- Environmental law enforcement
- Law, science and environmental phenomena
- The law and sector issues: sustainable cities, cultural heritage protection, food security, ocean and fisheries governance etc.

* Other topics fitting the broader Conference theme will also be considered.

DATE OF SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS:

22 SEPTEMBER 2017

Submit abstracts to the Secretariat at enviro.association.sa@gmail.com

REGISTRATION INFORMATION WILL FOLLOW.

Contact the Secretariat of the Environmental Law Association for any administrative queries or queries related to the programme: enviro.association.sa@gmail.com

SPONSORED BY JUTA

ENVIRONMENTAL LAW ASSOCIATION OF SOUTH AFRICA

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

ANNUAL NATIONAL CONFERENCE & AGM

10-11 NOVEMBER 2017 | UNIVERSITY OF CAPE TOWN

SA'S ENVIRONMENTAL LAW SCORECARD:
20 years since the White Paper on Environmental
Management Policy for South Africa, 1997

The White Paper on Environmental Management was published in July 1997 setting out the dream for environmental management for South Africa.

The White Paper followed the Consultative National Environmental Policy Process (CONNAPP). People from all walks of life contributed to the formulation of the eventual 1997 White Paper.

The White Paper is available at https://www.environment.gov.za/sites/default/files/legislations/environmental_management.pdf and its final 1998 version at https://www.gov.za/sites/default/files/environwp_0.pdf

The White Paper amongst other things set the “the policy principles that [had to] be applied in developing and testing policy and subsequent actions including decision making, legislation and regulation government’s strategic goals and supporting objectives to begin addressing major issues facing environmental management and the sustainable use of resources and for measuring the success of policy implementation government’s approach to governance, setting out the powers and responsibilities of the different spheres and agencies of government and the regulatory approach to environmental management.”

Twenty years later it merits to question if South Africa has achieved its vision of 1997. What did the legal fraternity and government achieve and what are the challenges that remain?

This is a Call for Abstracts for conference papers / presentations addressing any of the following:

- Section 24 of the Constitution and its realisation
- Existing and emerging sustainability principles and goals
- Integrated environmental management
- EIA regulations [20 years since the first EIA regs under the ECA]
- The one environmental system
- The specific environmental management acts
- Environmental law enforcement
- Law, science and environmental phenomena
- The law and sector issues: sustainable cities, cultural heritage protection, food security, ocean and fisheries governance etc.

* Other topics fitting the broader Conference theme will also be considered.

DATE OF SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS:

22 SEPTEMBER 2017

Submit abstracts to the Secretariat at enviro.association.sa@gmail.com

REGISTRATION INFORMATION WILL FOLLOW.

Contact the Secretariat of the Environmental Law Association for any administrative queries or queries related to the programme: enviro.association.sa@gmail.com

SPONSORED BY JUTA

ENVIRONMENTAL LAW ASSOCIATION OF SOUTH AFRICA

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

ANNUAL NATIONAL CONFERENCE & AGM

10-11 NOVEMBER 2017 | UNIVERSITY OF CAPE TOWN

SA'S ENVIRONMENTAL LAW SCORECARD:
20 years since the White Paper on Environmental
Management Policy for South Africa, 1997

The White Paper on Environmental Management was published in July 1997 setting out the dream for environmental management for South Africa.

The White Paper followed the Consultative National Environmental Policy Process (CONNEPP). People from all walks of life contributed to the formulation of the eventual 1997 White Paper.

The White Paper is available at https://www.environment.gov.za/sites/default/files/legislations/environmental_management.pdf and its final 1998 version at https://www.gov.za/sites/default/files/environwp_0.pdf

The White Paper amongst other things set the “the policy principles that [had to] be applied in developing and testing policy and subsequent actions including decision making, legislation and regulation government’s strategic goals and supporting objectives to begin addressing major issues facing environmental management and the sustainable use of resources and for measuring the success of policy implementation government’s approach to governance, setting out the powers and responsibilities of the different spheres and agencies of government and the regulatory approach to environmental management.”

Twenty years later it merits to question if South Africa has achieved its vision of 1997. What did the legal fraternity and government achieve and what are the challenges that remain?

This is a Call for Abstracts for conference papers / presentations addressing any of the following:

- Section 24 of the Constitution and its realisation
- Existing and emerging sustainability principles and goals
- Integrated environmental management
- EIA regulations [20 years since the first EIA regs under the ECA]
- The one environmental system
- The specific environmental management acts
- Environmental law enforcement
- Law, science and environmental phenomena
- The law and sector issues: sustainable cities, cultural heritage protection, food security, ocean and fisheries governance etc.

* Other topics fitting the broader Conference theme will also be considered.

DATE OF SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS:

22 SEPTEMBER 2017

Submit abstracts to the Secretariat at enviro.association.sa@gmail.com

REGISTRATION INFORMATION WILL FOLLOW.

Contact the Secretariat of the Environmental Law Association for any administrative queries or queries related to the programme: enviro.association.sa@gmail.com

SPONSORED BY JUTA